Agenda Item (for comment on a specific item)): no city chickens

Comment: I have written in the past, suspect this issue is coming up again. Please know, I do not trust we have staffing to regulate city chicken coops. It is not a cool idea.... nip it.

Agenda Item (for comment on a specific item)): City hen ordinance

Comment: I am greatly in favor of the chicken ordinance. I have an acre lot at the end of a dead end road and because I live in the city limits I cannot have chickens. You can house a horse on less property.

Comment: I have read through the developments currently underway in Rapid City and have concerns regarding the long term financial solvency of a few of them, as well as the financial impacts of parking regulations. I would also like to ask about the progress of the adoption of the Downtown Master Plan as well as comment on it. Related to that, I would also like to ask about the reconfiguration of Main Street and./or St. Joseph street to better suit the plans agenda, if it has not already been considered

Agenda Item (for comment on a specific item)): Chickens in city limits

Comment: I believe it is 100% in the best interest of the community to allow chickens and not limit the number to 4 unless it is 4 chickens per household member. Not only does this provide some food it also provides "town kids" with an opportunity to learn a small portion of animal responsibility that ranch/farm kids learn.

Comment: I feel like the times we are in now,times are harder. We should be able to have chickens for meat. Also chickens for laying eggs. Saves money& is very healthy for our family's. Teaches our children responsibility. Tell me what is wrong with any of those facts!!!!???
