Several hundred residents attended a public hearing scheduled Tuesday evening at City Hall by the Citizens Committee on Reducing City Government, or the obscenity-subculture issue in Rapid City.

However, only two persons were present at the meeting; Jones and at least five groups and agencies involved with young people who had been added to give their views on whether there is a pornography problem in Rapid City to relate young people.

Another meeting was held Monday evening in the individuals of the committee created by the Rapid City Council in an attempt to get a more complete picture of the community that was unable to attend the meeting.

Mrs. Judy Robertson, a representative of the South Dakota Law Enforcement Officers Association, told the members of the committee that they will have to be careful in their discussions with the public.

F. C. O. W. President, said, in part, "In my view, these materials are available in a very limited number of people and would not be as useful to the study we are trying to do."

"If the community of Rapid City should take this issue on, it should be handled with care and consideration," Robertson said.

Lacroix says board should concentrate on interior activities of city civic center

Mayor Art Lacroix told the Rapid City Civic Center Board Monday it should concentrate on the interior activities of the civic center complex, leaving the administration, operation and maintenance of the multi-million dollar facility to the city manager.

While the mayor said he feels he and the council would welcome any comments from the board on the civic center's future development, these problems are the concern of the city manager.

The board also learned that a rough estimate of the cost for equipping the exhibit hall with tables, chairs and other essential items will come in at more than $25,000. Mr. Larry Lyle, chairman, said that a phone call to The Sprout in Rapid City, part of the shopping center, disclosed that he estimated that the city might need to spend more than it should be at this time.
