Listen closely. You can almost hear..."Alas, poor Yorick! I knew him, Horatio, a fellow of infinite jest..." It won't be long until the theater audience in the Rushmore Plaza Civic Center will be viewing plays written by the likes of Shakespeare, Eugene O'Neill, Tennessee Williams and others. We view the ordinance requiring future city employees to live within the city as proper.

The U.S. Supreme Court ruled last March that ordinances requiring municipal employees to live within a city's boundaries are not unconstitutional as a violation of an individual's right to due process or of equal protection.

The proposed Rapid City ordinance does not go as far as one enacted in Chicago. Under that ordinance, Mayor Richard Daley set an August

The suit alleges that the defendants were negligent in the construction of the houses in the third subdivision of Knollwood Heights, and seeks judgment of $5,000 in damages to each house involved.

Bibleman said about 40 hours are involved in the suit.

Robert Kleinert said each of the houses involved was under a warranty, and those warranties were honored.

He said he feels the company has been more than fair to the residents by doing work for them that was not required by the warranty and was done after the warranty period.

When asked at the meeting were said if they had written a formal letter of complaint, only one said that he had.

唐山 was expected to be able to have a report by the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

Hundt said he felt that was too long to wait and that if a number of other employees were very anxious to learn the status of their work. Hundt also cited a state law which requires periodic reports of the condition of the funds to be made available to municipalities.

One section of the law requires the state board of trustees of the retirement fund to make an annual report by the first of November for the preceding fiscal year to all participating municipalities.

Hundt said the last report he has was prior to January 1974.

He said since then he did receive a report for April and for the period from Jan. 1 through April 30. But this is not what he wants. He wants to know the status of the Rapid City account from the time the program went into effect.

The present state retirement program was in effect in 1969 when the police retirement fund was contributed into it.
